SUPERIOR MATERIALS

Real-Fyre Gas Logs are made of superior refractory ceramics, expanded shales and aggregates and use an advanced calcium aluminate binder. This combination of materials, pre-fired in a rotary kiln, provides:

- GREATER COMPRESSIVE STRENGTH
 Allowing finer detailing in the log-making process without breaking or chipping, and producing a longer-lasting log.
- HIGHER BULK DENSITY
 Providing more radiant heat, both while in operation and after the set has been turned off.
- BETTER RHEOLOGY (FLOW RATE)
 Meaning a better texture to the logs, fewer "bugholes", better strength, and less water in the mix, for better consistency of product.
- HIGHER REFRACTORINESS
 Real-Fyre refractory material has a Pyrometric Cone Equivalent of 2650 degrees (F), higher than any other log, and higher PCE means better ability to withstand heat over time. Real-Fyre logs won't break down.
- STEEL REINFORCING RODS
 Assuring the integrity of Real-Fyre Gas Logs, precisely sized and designed steel rods are inserted into each log. This provides maximum reinforcement and prevents breakage.
